Alternative Approval Process for Nanaimo Operations Centre begins next week

Residents invited to attend Public Works tours, info sessions

Summary

An Alternative Approval Process (AAP) to gain permission from residents to borrow an amount not to exceed $48,500,000 to finance the cost of construction of Phase 1 of the Nanaimo Operation Centre (Public Works yard) begins on Thursday, Jan. 18, 2024. Eligible voters in Nanaimo will have a 34-day period to oppose the borrowing bylaw and may do so by filling out a response form which will be available to pick up at City Hall or can be printed off from the City website beginning on Jan. 18, 2024.

As in an election, each eligible voter is permitted one response. Completed forms must be dropped off or mailed to City Hall by 4:30 pm on Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2024. The City cannot accept copies of forms or forms that are emailed or faxed.

The City is hosting information sessions and tours of the Public Works yard for residents to learn more about the project, the services Public Works provides and the AAP. Residents are invited to attend the following:

Key Points

- The Alternative Approval Process begins on Thursday, Jan. 18, 2024 and runs until 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 20. The AAP process is designed to be accessible, allowing electors the flexibility to engage without the need for in-person voting, thereby reducing costs.
- If 10 per cent or more of eligible voters submit an Alternative Approval Process form in opposition, the borrowing bylaw will be brought back to Council to determine if Council would like to proceed with the matter and next steps.
- The City is conducting various information sessions and tours to educate residents about the project, Public Works services and the AAP process. Residents can attend a Council workshop and info session, Public Works tours and pop-up info sessions to gain insight, ask questions and make informed decisions.
