REIMAGINE NANAIMO: Calling for community representatives

Summary

The City is seeking organizations and individuals who are willing to help spread the word about REIMAGINE NANAIMO through their networks. Volunteer community representatives will be invited to learn more about REIMAGINE NANAIMO and to work with the City's project team to identify how best to bring their networks and neighbourhoods together to participate.

Community representatives can support in many different ways: from sharing information about REIMAGINE NANAIMO through their established networks, to bringing participants together, to helping identify and remove barriers that may keep people from participating.
