Parks, Recreation and Culture restarting drop-in sessions

Pre-registration required

Summary

A few swimming, skating, drop-in sports, weight room workouts and pottery sessions are starting up again with City of Nanaimo Parks, Recreation and Culture this month. All sessions must be pre-registered and pre-paid up to 72 hours in advance. This new system in place will limit participants to comply with the Provincial Mass Gathering Order and give adequate time between sessions for staff to clean and sanitize the facility.

There are three ways to pre-register:

Online: visit www.nanaimo.ca/goto/PRC-Registration and choose the appropriate drop-in activity. Clients will need to create an account, and payment is done through Visa or Mastercard. This is the preferred method as it is the most efficient.

Telephone: call 250-756-5200 and book using a Visa or Mastercard.

In Person: stop in at Oliver Woods Community Centre, Bowen Park Complex or Nanaimo Aquatic Centre to book with a front desk clerk using cash, Visa or Mastercard.

Quotes

"Many of Nanaimo's citizens have been awaiting the return of public sessions. This new format that requires pre-registration will ensure we are doing everything we can to offer these recreation opportunities again while keeping the risk of contracting COVID-19 low. Schedules and the sessions offered are different than before, and schedules are subject to change as the City continues to monitor and adapt to the every-changing circumstances arising from the pandemic."
