City of Nanaimo announces new Youth Poet Laureate, Paige Pierce

Summary

The City of Nanaimo is pleased to announce Paige Pierce, a talented young writer and poet, has been appointed as Nanaimo's newest Youth Poet Laureate. In this role, she will serve as a "young people's poet", raising awareness of poetry and the positive impact the literary arts can have on community life.

Paige was appointed to the position of Youth Poet Laureate for her ability to engage and inspire community, as well as her innovative ideas regarding her vision for the position, and the future engagement of Nanaimo's young literary community. As she steps into the role, Paige hopes to develop a community of aspiring and practicing poets, providing opportunities to draft, refine, and share their work. She also plans to host readings and poetry cafe events to showcase the voices of young writers in Nanaimo.

"I stir the macaroni holding back a sob or maybe just a stomach ache that I haven't managed to cure mom and I FaceTime every night we categorize our mourning into 'wimpy days'
as if our heartache was prescribed by a mood swing or the agonies of womanhood and not the shadow of your essence that we keep hoping to see peaking around sullen corners"

In this excerpt from Paige Pierce's poem, "Nan's Pasta Recipe" (2024), she articulates the challenges and anxieties of many adolescents as they transition from childhood to adulthood, accompanied by reflections on family, love and grief.

The City's Youth Poet Laureate program is a connection to Nanaimo's youth, inspiring strong youth voices within our community. Mentored by the Poet Laureate, the Youth Poet Laureate will present original work to City Council and the community through a variety of civic events. They will also be responsible for organizing community-based youth poetry projects, including collaboration with local organizations such as the Nanaimo Harbourfront Library and Literacy Central Vancouver Island. Reaching a variety of audiences and encouraging peer to peer education and inspiration, the Youth Poet Laureate paves the way for future youth to engage on a civic level using their artistic voice. The Youth Poet Laureate is an advocate for poetry, language and the arts.

Tyler Brown
Acting Mayor/ Councillor
City of Nanaimo

"I am so excited to step into this role, as I know first-hand the way that poetry can change the lives of young people trying to navigate the tumultuous, delicate, and formative years that make up one's adolescence. I cannot thank the City of Nanaimo enough for giving me a platform and network of resources to begin to collect, nurture, and amplify the voices of youth in and around our community."
