Nanaimo 150

In 2024, the City of Nanaimo had a big birthday, we turned 150. We know, we don't look a day over 100!

On December 24, 1874, the City of Nanaimo became the sixth municipality (and fourth city) to be incorporated in BC. The newly formed City's first election took place on January 19, 1875 electing Mark Bate as our first Mayor and the first Council meeting was on January 22, 1875. Fast forward to 2024 and Nanaimo is known to be one of the fastest growing cities in Canada.

Nanaimo has a rich history dating back before its time as a coal mining, forestry, tech and tourist hub. The Snuneymuxw First Nation resides in the centre of Coast Salish territory on the eastern coast of Vancouver Island and encompasses one of the most magnificent and resource rich areas at the heart of the Salish Sea. Since time immemorial, the Snuneymuxw People have resided in Snuneymuxw Territory as the first peoples.

The Nanaimo150 Logo

The Nanaimo 150 corporate logo and street banner were designed by local artist Amy Pye.

The designs were inspired by the convergence of land and sea, and the unique blend of urban and rural life that makes our landscape truly exceptional. Pye's design grabs attention and inspires thoughtful reflection throughout the year. '150' becomes more than just a number, and instead takes on life and transformative shape as it tells its story:

- rural tradition meets urban innovation in a harmonious visual balance between nature and our modern city, as recognizable symbols of our diverse landscape transform the shape of the 1-5-0 and cascade down the banner;
- fertile countryside meets bustling city streets;
- the flight of an eagle reveals the bounties of the sea; and
- a soaring seaplane finds the solid structures of an urban centre.

These dynamic relationships are highlighted by the artist, coming to life as balanced opposites. The street banners were installed along Nanaimo's streets and in our parks, and the corporate logo was integrated into the City's everyday business for the year.

Who We Are

Since Nanaimo incorporated 150 years ago in 1874, we've been a coal town, a timber town, a mill town and a tourist destination. Today, our leading sectors are in health care, technology and construction.

The City of Nanaimo is situated on the Traditional Territory of the Snuneymuxw First Nation. Nanaimo - the Heart of the Island, north of the Malahat - is a transportation hub connecting people and goods through its busy port, ferry terminals (Departure Bay, Duke Point and Nanaimo Port Authority), all-weather airport, and helicopter and seaplane services linking Nanaimo with the rest of the world. Since Nanaimo incorporated in 1874, we've been a coal town, a timber town, a mill town and a tourist destination. Today, our leading sectors are in health care, technology and construction.

Nanaimo's early development patterns were centred on the harbour and downtown with the current City boundaries being established only in 1975 through amalgamation with a number of surrounding improvement districts.

Recent growth patterns have refocused development within the City's existing urban growth boundary resulting in higher levels of infill throughout the City. Today, Nanaimo is the fifth largest city in BC with an estimated population of over 100,000.

Our community boasts over 100 parks, an extensive trail system, public beaches, picnic areas and several recreational facilities. Along with vast recreation opportunities, we have a variety of art galleries and museums, a world-class symphony and, in a typical year, host a number of community events and festivals, including the world famous bathtub races during the Marine Festival.

A Message from Mayor Leonard Krog

In 2024, we had the honour of recognizing Nanaimo's 150th year of incorporation. In that time, the City has grown from a small mining town to a diverse and thriving urban centre, the second largest on Vancouver Island. Marking this milestone gave us the chance to reflect on where we have come from and to set our sights on where we are headed. I must also recognize that since time immemorial, the Snuneymuxw People have resided in Snuneymuxw Territory as the first peoples.

Nanaimo continued to experience strong growth. Our population surpassed 110,000 and is projected to grow to over 120,000 by 2029. This steady growth reflects our city's appeal as a place to live, work and raise a family. It is also a signal that we must continue to invest in infrastructure, services and opportunities that support our community's evolving needs.

Also in 2024, we saw major improvements across our community with the near completion of the Midtown Gateway and Water Supply projects which will help traffic move more safely and efficiently through key corridors and provide an upgraded water delivery system to two-thirds of Nanaimo. At Westwood Lake, upgrades began to create an accessible beach and amenities that will improve the experience for residents and visitors alike for years to come.

We also enhanced our recreation and sports infrastructure. Eight new pickleball courts at Beban Park opened to strong community support and the redeveloped Marie Davidson BMX Park is now a world-class facility that welcomes riders from across the region and beyond. These projects reflect our commitment to providing quality spaces that promote active, healthy living.

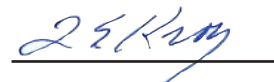

Our local athletes also made us proud. Ethan Katzberg brought home Canada's first-ever Olympic gold medal in men's hammer throw at the Paris Games, a remarkable achievement that inspired residents of all ages.

Tourism made a strong comeback in 2024. The return of cruise ships to our harbour and the success of Hullo Ferries, which completed more than 3,200 sailings and welcomed over 400,000 passengers in its first year, are clear signs that Nanaimo is a place people want to visit.

Nanaimo's business community is also growing. With nearly 7,000 licensed businesses in operation, an 8.3 percent increase from 2023, we are seeing strong momentum with growth speaking to the confidence people have in our city and its future.

With much to celebrate, there is still work to do. City Council acknowledges that citizens continue to face rising costs of living, housing pressures and the growing demands of a rapidly expanding population. But as we reflect on the past 150 years, and everything we have achieved in 2024, it is clear that our community is resilient, innovative and full of potential.

Thank you for being part of this journey. Together, we are building a stronger, more inclusive Nanaimo for the next 150 years.

SURPLUS

In 2024, the City's financial position strengthened with accumulated surplus increasing by $47 million as the City continued to invest in infrastructure to support service levels in a growing community. Investments in tangible capital assets make up the majority of the City's accumulated surplus balance ($862 million). This represents the net book value of the diverse infrastructure owned by the City such as land, buildings, roads and underground linear assets. The remaining accumulated surplus is made up of funds held in operating reserves ($87 million) and statutory reserve funds ($106 million).

The City is committed to sustainable, prudent, and transparent management of financial resources used to provide valued community services, as supported by the City's reserve and debt management policies. A low debt servicing limit (13.1% of limit at December 31, 2023) and dedicated financial stability reserves provide flexibility and help ensure the ongoing financial stability and fiscal health of City operations.

REVENUES

Revenues in 2024 were $6.8 million lower than in 2023. The most significant revenue changes were taxes and transfers from other government – capital. Taxation revenue increased by $11.9 million from 2023 to 2024 primarily due to a 7.7% property tax increase that included a 1% increase for asset management as part of the City's continued commitment to address its infrastructure funding gap. Transfers from other governments – capital decreased by $19.2 million which is largely due to the City receiving a one-time Growing Communities Provincial Grant totaling $16.1 million in 2023.
